Flood Control District and Diamondbacks Make Great Team!

(Phoenix) – Maricopa County Supervisor Mary Rose Wilcox is understandably excited about an event planned for this Friday in a flood control basin in Guadalupe.

“Hey, it’s not every day that a World Series Champion player shows up at a Flood Control District Public Works project,” explains Supervisor Wilcox. “This is an exciting day for the kids of Guadalupe!”

That’s because this isn’t just an ordinary flood control basin. This new basin is also the home of Todd Stottlemire Field, a little league facility built through a partnership between the Flood Control District, Diamondbacks Charities, and APS.

Stottlemire, and Diamondbacks’ owner Jerry Colangelo will join Mrs. Wilcox, Mayor Margarita Cota of Guadalupe, and lots of excited residents for the field’s dedication ceremony at 8:30 AM this Friday, September 27th. The field is at the intersection of Avenida del Yaqui, and Calle Cerrito.

The basin on which the field is located is part of a larger project of four basins to provide flood protection for the Town of Guadalupe. Three of the four basins will be used as public parks. “Not only was the District able to respond to the Town’s flooding problems, but at the same time, it was able to provide three points of pride for the community, “ says Mrs. Wilcox.
